Labour Minister inaugurates 73rd State-Level Vanmahotsav

Forest is connected with our lives: Labour Minister

Forest is connected with our lives. As forest keeps the environment tranquil, water would not be available without the forest, which is why we have to be more aware about tree and water conservation, enunciated Labour Minister Bhagaban Chandra Das after inaugurating the 73rd State-Level Vanmahotsav at Kumarghat PWD Maidan yesterday. As a part of Azadi Ka Amrit Mahotsav, the Forest department has organized the State-Level Vanmahotsav. An exhibition of the Self-Help Groups and stalls were opened.

After inaugurating the 73rd State-Level Vanmahotsav, Labour Minister Bhagaban Chandra Das said, forests are being destroyed due to the lack of awareness which is badly affecting the environment. He said, forest conservation is extremely important to keep the environment clean and to avoid flood and drought.

Unakoti District Magistrate U. K. Chakma in the inaugural programme said, Vanmahotsav has been observed on national level since 1950. More awareness must be generated on afforestation and saving trees among the students. We have to take the responsibility in order to save the future generation. PCCF of Forest department K. S. Shetty in his welcome speech said, humankind cannot survive without forest. The programme was presided over by Chairperson of Kumarghat Municipal Council Biswajit Das. Other dignitaries present in the programme were Chairman of Kumarghat Panchayat Samiti Happy Das and Additional Chief Forest Conservator V. G Jena. The programme was followed by cultural performances. Vote of thanks was delivered by Unakoti District Forest Officer Jayakrishnan V. K.
