State level International Fisheries Day

Fish farming has been given priority in rural economy development: Cooperation Minister

Fish farming has been given priority in the state to develop the rural economy. The development of the rural areas of the state is accelerating as the state government gives priority to agriculture and agriculture related sectors. Cooperation Minister Shukla Charan Noatia said this while inaugurating the state-level International Fisheries Day celebration at Mukut Auditorium in Santirbazar yesterday. He said on the occasion that various programs have been taken to increase fish production in the state. These programs are playing an important role in strengthening the economy of the state besides making fish farmers self-reliant.

Two hundred twenty-two fish farmers from different parts of the state participated in the state-level celebration of International Fisheries Day. Twenty best fish farmers were awarded at the program. Sabhadhipati of South Tripura Zilla Parishad Kakali Das Dutta, MLA Swapna Majumdar, Chairperson of Santirbazar Municipal Council Swapna Baidya, Chairman of Bokafa Panchayat Samiti Sridam Das and others were present at the program. Director of Fisheries Department Santosh Das highlighted various schemes of the state government to increase fish farming. Deputy Director of Fisheries department Sukesh Chandra Majumder gave the welcome speech. Sahakari Sabhadhipati of South Tripura Zilla Parishad Bibhishan Das presided over the program.
