

Everyone needs to come forward to make Vision-2047 a success to build a better Tripura for the future generations of the state. He suggested regularly reviewing of the progress of the plans taken up in each sector. He said, emphasis should be laid on spreading awareness on initiatives taken up so that even the last person in the state may know about the aims and objectives of Vision-2047. The Chief Minister urged every department to include publicity into Vision-2047.

Deputy Chief Minister Jishnu Dev Varma in the concluding programme emphasized the need for various departments to set more targets and focus on new strategies to take the state to the pinnacle of development in 25 years. He said, 70% of the land in the state is forest. These forest resources must be utilized. It is not possible to take the state forward without it. The tourism industry of the state has huge potential for development and almost every tourist destination in the state is associated with forests. Forests are the key to the ecosystem. The culture of Tripura is diverse. Here is a gathering of people of different races and tribes. They have very different cultures. This culture is also very much related to the forest. So, everyone must be careful in protecting the forest resources. In this context, he emphasized planting trees while cutting down trees is going on. He said, to take the state to the peak of development in the next 25 years, it is necessary to set specific targets in the field of horticulture, fisheries, tourism, etc., including the primary sector. Only then is it possible to take the state forward towards development.
